

WAR NEWS.

Advices from Gen. McClellan's army state that the recent rains have caused a great flood in the Chickahominy river, seriously interfering with army operations. Yesterday morning the Confederates opened with artillery from several different points near New Bridge, with the purpose of preventing its reconstruction. Three Federal batteries were brought to bear, causing them to retreat. It is reported that all the public and many private houses in Richmond are impressed into the service as hospitals for the wounded of the battles of Saturday and Sunday last. The Federal gunboats are again below Fort Darling, preparing for another attack.

The Confederate army under Gen. Jackson it appears has reached New Market, Shenandoah county, Virginia, eighteen miles south of Woodstock, and forty-five from Winchester.—Gen. Milroy had an engagement with their rear guard near Strasburg on Monday, but the Confederates held their ground, and the next morning resumed the retreat southward. It is rumored that the Confederate Generals Smith and Longstreet are somewhere in the valley, with 15,000 men.

A dispatch from Gen. Halleck's headquarters, brings a report that a man has arrived in camp who says that the city of Memphis and Fort Pillow were both surrendered to the Federal forces on Friday last.

A dispatch states that when it was discovered that the Confederates had abandoned Corinth, Gen. Pope was sent in pursuit of such of their army as went west, and Gen. Granger, at the head of his division, moved south. Six miles southwest of Corinth a smart engagement took place, in which it appears the Federal troops were not very successful until reinforcements were brought up, when the Confederates were surrounded, and, it is said, five or ten thousand of them taken prisoners. At last accounts, Gen. Pope was nine miles southwest of Corinth. It is stated that this dispatch is not so late as that from Gen. Halleck, given yesterday.

A body of Federal cavalry made a movement on the town of Winchester, in Franklin county, Tenn., on Tuesday last, and drove out some Confederate troops stationed there.

The steamer Philadelphia arrived from Pensacola on the 25th ult. Gen. Arnold's troops occupy Pensacola, where deserters were constantly coming in. Wilson's Zouaves are engaged in throwing up fortifications commanding all the land approaches to the city, and sloop-of-war Vincennes also lays off the town. Gen. Arnold was engaged in the humane duty of feeding the poor of Pensacola.

The telegraph, with about its usual accuracy, tells us that Okolona, the place to which Beauregard is reported to have gone, is one hundred and fifty miles south of Corinth. This is an error of only eighty-three miles, the true distance being sixty-seven miles south of Corinth. Okolona is a station in the northeast corner of Chickasaw county, on the Mobile and Ohio Railway, and was, a few years ago, the northern terminus of that road.

On Saturday afternoon last, a terrible storm passed over the camps before Richmond.—Several soldiers were killed and injured by lightning.

Gen. McClellan sends a corrected report of his dispatch of the recent battles before Richmond, mistakes in which, he says, occurred in transmitting it by telegraph. He mentions with praise Gens. Sumner, Heintzleman and Kearney—and says that after the breaking of Gen. Casey's division, these officers advanced gallantly, and checked the Confederates—driving them with great loss.
